Evolution Markets Rated Top Broker Across Global Environmental Markets by Readers of Environmental Finance and *Carbon Finance

-- Accolades Garnered in Fifteen Markets, Including Global Carbon, US Emissions, Renewable Energy, and Weather Derivatives Markets --

White Plains, NY (December 16, 2011): Environmental market participants have recognized Evolution Markets Inc. for its best-in-class brokerage services across fifteen global markets in the 2011 Environmental Finance and Carbon Finance annual survey. This total marks the greatest number of awards Evolution Markets has garnered in what is considered one of the environmental markets most respected benchmark surveys.

“Providing brokerage, structured transaction, and strategic advisory services to global environmental markets is at the core of what we do at Evolution Markets, and our standing in the 2011 Environmental Finance and Carbon Finance survey is a validation of this focus and dedication,” said Andrew Ertel, President and CEO of Evolution Markets Inc. “We strive to leverage our unparalleled knowledge of environmental markets and transaction expertise to create opportunities in emissions, renewable, weather, and energy markets for your customers. We appreciate their recognition in important industry benchmarks such as this one.”

The Survey is a poll of leading participants in global environmental markets, including traders, brokers, consultants, and government officials. Evolution Markets’ honors in the annual survey include being named “Best Broker” in a record 12 categories. To follow is a complete list of our honors:
